Swap hub buy sell and swap

This page contains information about online forums where you can find, give, exchange, or sell beloved items. (See our page's re-use centers or community re-use initiatives for other opportunities). Buying and selling - General The following websites offer an online forum to buy or sell products (both new and used). In some cases, free products that are given away may also be listed. Facebook Marketplace buys and sells new and pre-loved products. Gumtree - Ads (either sell, receive or give away products) can be added to gumtree website for free. eBay charges a listing fee and a percentage of your sale price. eBay has an international dimension so that products can be traded abroad. Tradingpost.com.au is just an Australian website. Charges a prepayment to list your ad, but comes with a warranty. Sell it in four weeks or get your money back. The Community Exchange Network is the first and only global network of communities using an alternative exchange system. Carousell is a mobile marketplace app that allows you to join, set up an account, make an offer, or pre-list a beloved product for free. Depop - Buy, sell and discover fashion in the world's most inspiring creative community. Reimaginarium - From furniture and household appliances to jewellery and Bluetooth speakers, Reimaginarium is your home for Australia's best refurbished products. Free stuff - General These forums allow you to give stuff for free or find things for free that other people give away. Facebook and other social media sites have community groups that you can join, where members give things away, anything from food, clothing, furniture to offers of help. An example is a group called Pay it Forward to check if there is a group for your suburb. FreeCycle Australia - One of the oldest free goods forums, the Freecycle Network is one of the most used free exchange networks in the world - filled with many individual local groups. Each local group is moderated by a local volunteer. Membership is free, and the Freecycle movement is not a for-profit. GIVIT Ziilch ShareWaste - find a composter near you that takes food waste. Street libraries are a beautiful home for books planted in your front yard. They can be accessed from the street and are an invitation to share the joys of reading with neighbors. Book Swapping Online These forums allow you to exchange books online using the points system and sending books by mail. Book Mooch - a forum where you can operate in Australia or internationally For more information about exchange parties, see the Swap Parties section of the Community Reuse Initiatives page. Clothes Swapping The Clothing Exchange holds exchanges in Sydney, Melbourne & Canberra. National Recycling Week lists exchanges across the country on the event page. More info on on the Community Reuse Initiatives page, see the Swap Parties section. This is a directory list. Please note that recyclers may currently be closed or used covid-19. Use the information below to contact the recycler directly. Nowadays, there's not much you can't buy and sell on Facebook. We take a look at some of the biggest and strangest groups on the site. You might find a giant metal chicken brand, an inflatable husband, an item of clothing for a dollar or a car for a knockout price. Whereas once eBay and garage sales were places to find second-hand deals, today Facebook buys, switches and sells groups to take over. You can list items in a local group aimed at your own suburb, or you can join national or even international groups to exchange special items such as clothing or homewares from specific brands, collectibles or almost anything you can think of. There are countless groups in Melbourne, some with more than 20,000 members. Caroline Trewenack of West Footscray leads one of Melbourne's largest groups, Inner West Buy, Swap & Sell, which has more than 17,000 members. She and a friend started a group in 2011 for mothers at their children's elementary school and it spread across the community. It is now so popular that there are about 10,000 items on sale at a time and the new product is listed about every minute. YOU HAVE WHAT YOU HAVE TO SAY: What's the best deal you've found on Facebook? Tell us below. RELATED: The InnerWeek Facebook community rallies behind Claudio Mongol and his family: Black Milk clothing fan proud member of global sharkie groupMs Trewenack and two other administrators spend hours every day managing the page and they don't get any revenue from it. Unusual items are often listed - Trewenack said he once bought a three-foot-high chicken brand. The blasting husband has been sold. it was a really interesting message, he said. There was a man selling his ex-girlfriend's knee-high Christian Louboutins. Cars have been sold to the first location. Many of the sales are small items listed for just a few dollars, but people rely on them for quick extra cash. We have a lot of people who say, You're only selling it for a dollar, why bother? Many have said that those few dollars have been their saviours, that may have been the difference that allowed them to pay for the school trip. The disadvantage of e-commerce, of course, is that there is always a risk of someone being robbed. Mr Trewenack said there had been cases where people had reported losing money in his group, but that was rare because no one could join the group unless he was appointed by a friend who was already a member. Unlike eBay, where you can send feedback about a suspicious buyer or seller, you have little to resort to if you're tricked into being a Facebook merchant - especially if you paid for the product directly. Administrators in each group usually set their own rules and can choose who they let in and who they deny. does not participate in transactions between buyers and sellers. Facebook spokeswoman Antonia Christie said buying and selling organic is thriving in sales groups in sales groups Facebook, where millions of people around the world trade on the platform. He said users could report people who used fake profiles or who listed items that were illegal, violated the company's community standards or were fake. People need to be their true self on Facebook, that's one of the drivers, Christie said. Consumer Affairs Victoria spokeswoman Libby Rule said the popularity of buying, trading and sales groups was part of the overall growth in peer-to-peer trading. He encouraged shoppers to take extra care when shopping online and pay with safe methods such as PayPal, not in advance, such as through a money order, credit card or bank transfer. For Trewenack, the group's benefits to his community outweigh the potential risks. He has seen members raise funds to help those in need, get to know people in their neighborhoods and isolate themselves less. I remember one member saying, Oh, my God, I'm home alone, I don't have a car and I need diapers, he said. Within an hour, a stranger had left them with a box of chocolates. SIX BUY, SWAP, SELL GROUPS WITH A DIFFERENCEBonds Buy and sellYou can buy Bonds clothing and underwear cheaply from supermarkets and department stores. But collecting rare pieces, nicknamed the Bond unicorn, has become a hobby for many. Some used baby clothes are sold many times more than their recommended retail price. Man Cave Buy Swap and SellOld parking meters, beer jugs, bars and Carlton Draught stickers are just some of the items you'll find in this group dedicated to those who want to remove the perfect man cave. Buy and sell modern fabric diapers (MCN) AustraliaGroups trading reusable modern fabric diapers are popular with many parents who have refused their disposable tots. With many different models and types on offer, some mothers find buying stranger addictive. Tupperware buys, replaces, sells More than 3,000 members to change their favorite kitchen utensils and dishes. Buy Swap Sell Hunting Fishing Knife Weapons Swords Weapons Collector Australia As described in this group, the administrator must approve each product mentioned for sale and the person buying and selling firearms must provide serial numbers. Black Milk Clothing Swap, Sell and BuyMore More than 14,000 fans of Brisbane clothing brand Hot Milk, who call themselves sharks, are selling designer pieces online. The brand's leggings retail for $75 to $85, but a limited edition or rare pieces can pick up hundreds.
